- ✓ The best, all-natural health solutions available today – All Organixx supplements are doctor-formulated and based on extensive clinical research. Even better, we put an emphasis on outstanding quality ingredients. All ingredients are 100% pure USDA Certified Organic whenever available. Most of our ingredients are fermented using our proprietary fermentation process that's unlike any other manufacturing process being used to create supplements today. This fermentation process increases bioavailability and cellular absorption for maximum health benefits. (See our latest product catalog with our amazing wholesale prices here.)
- ✓ Service with a smile – Unlike other wholesale programs where you're given a generic toll-free number with an unfamiliar person answering, at Organixx you get personalized service with someone who will end up feeling like an old friend. That's because when you become our partner, you'll get a dedicated Wholesale Customer Success Agent. He or she will be your personal point of contact and support who helps place your orders, answers any questions, and is focused on helping your business grow.

- ✓ Exclusive advanced notification – You'll be the first to know about any sales and new products with exclusive advanced notification available only to our wholesale partners. So you'll know all the insider news at Organixx before the general public. Be the first to offer the best possible health solutions to your patients and clients.
